Substantial Warehouses and Costly Residences This Year

Real Test of a City's Growth is Character of Its Structures.

GLENORA AND GARNEAU LEAD IN FINE RESIDENCES

Total Number of Buildings Erected During the Past Nine Months was 1483.

The time has come when the contractor gets in a little better position than in just another year of saying that it is getting cold and that the building days of easy building are drawing to an end. At such a time the prudent citizen could do worse than pause for a moment or two and look back over what has been going on since the building activity of a city like Edmonton is, to say the least, a matter of vital interest to every man and woman that lives in it.

When the man on the street looks at the city of Edmonton, he will find that it has been erected in this building boom whose value will exceed $10,000,000, his first impression would most likely be: "Well, what is all this talk about a money stringency?" If he were to put the question to the head of the building inspector's department, Mr. McIvor would tell him that as far as the department is concerned there cannot be said to have been really hard times at all. To be sure the total amount of permits issued up to the present time seen at first sight to fall somewhat below the amount for the same period of last year, but that figures at times mislead.

Take for example, said Mr. McIvor to the Capital: the two species of building which are perhaps the safest guide by which to judge of a city's real prosperity. I mean substantial warehouses and expensive dwelling houses. Never in the city's history have so many real and substantial warehouses been erected as in the past building year. What's more, the man who would build a dwelling three years ago and ask $6,000 for it would have his trouble in finding a purchaser, whereas this year we have never issued anything like so many permits for dwelling houses whose cost is around $12,000. Men don't erect buildings of that nature if there is no money either on hand or well in sight.

A walk through the well defined wholesale district of the city will simply bear out Mr. McIvor's words. On Fourth St. there is the handsome fire store structure erected by Kelly & Purcell, corner of six stories on Eighth St., that of Nicholas & Hain. At the corner of Seventh and Peace Ave., Tees & Purse have a six story warehouse as modern as it is substantial. These buildings are all of a strictly modern warehouse type and the materials used in the construction are of best stone, cement and brick.

As to the sections of the city most affected in the building activities of the last year, Glenora and Garneau lead in the high class and expensive type of dwelling, and yet at the opposite extremity of the city in the district in and around Norwood it can be shown by figures in the inspector's office that two permits were taken out in that part of the city to one in any other section. Norwood and Parkdale are the sections, pure coincidence, in which the owners live on their property. As a source of revenue to the city it leads all other residential sections and the number of permits issued to Norwood amounted to double the number issued to any other part.

And yet in spite of the optimism prevailing in civic block the fact remains that many a handsome or imposing edifice conceived in hope last year, never saw the light of day especially in the case of apartment houses. Figures are untruthful witnesses at times but they must be faced. For the first three quarters of last year, from January to October inclusive, the amount of money sunk in building was the tidy sum of $12,185,020. For the same period of the present year the amount was $8,588,100.60, a decrease of almost four millions. What seems almost incredible in the face of the never ceasing demand for houses, and the increasing cry of the rent payer is the fact that the buildings which the last mentioned sum covered, 1,228 were dwelling houses, and by the end of the year it is a safe prognostication that the year 1913 will have witnessed the erecting of 2000 dwellings—and yet rents are higher today in Edmonton than in the city of New York. In other words the building capacities of Edmonton are far from adequate to the demands made upon it by the ever increasing influx of newcomers intending to make this city their home.

For the first nine months of the present year the building activity among the various kinds of building was, as follows:—Dwellings, 1,228; stores and offices, 107; warehouses, 27; churches, 9; hotels, 27; factories, 1. The last figure is food for thought. What about Edmonton's made goods? The question may disturb the fearful and the timid, but a heart to heart talk with Publicity Commissioner Hain has a wonderfully soothing effect. He will assure you that the inquiries increase every day and that in the most cases it was only the unreasonable nature of the concessions asked for that has stopped the city from receiving into its capacious bosom several manufacturing concerns making staple lines of goods. You will also be assured that time and the unquestioned nature of the concessions asked for the manufacturer will soon be having their effect.

To build is one thing; to build well is still more important. At least that is the unalterable conviction of the man whom the city of Edmonton has commissioned to see that those who build build properly.

Mr. Hain is the watch dog past whom all those with plans of a questionable appearance must slip if they want to raise their faulty structure. His bare nostril is a house in which the heating system is a menace to the tenant and adjacent houses.

"The city, declares Mr. Hain, spends $12,000 for inspectors in the hope of preventing fires and $180,000 in putting them out. Just take a look at some of the hotels for instance. If a glass of beer is sold after ten o'clock the proprietor is heavily fined. On the other hand, if he leads a guest to a room that is a veritable death-trap, no one thinks of it. To the fact, economy is thought of it. That is the saddest economy in the world. We should Canada lead the civilized countries in loss of property through fire. Our people are prone to fret about it."

taxation. They rebel when the price of commodities is a trifle above and insist upon excessive legislation, and they blindly submit to a tax that is heavier than any of them, the greatest single tax that Canada pays and one that does not help defray any government or municipal expense but is a tremendous drain that goes on entirely in smoke, a drain that could by ordinary precaution, that does not cost anything but the exercise of common sense, be cut down 50 per cent.

The one great tribute of course to the coming age and importance of the future Edmonton is the Chateau Macdonald. It must not be forgotten that the two millions which it represents are not included in this year's estimate of the amount of permits issued and yet it is the most important building of the present year and should really be considered first of the building activity of the year 1913. It has given employment to more men than would ordinarily be used on any other of the largest buildings in the city. It will be opened on Dominion day of next year and when finished be the best work in hotel construction. According to the architects, as much expense, care and state will be devoted to this hotel as to any hotel in the great capitals of the world. Edmonton, which ten years ago congratulated itself on the opening of the Alberta on Jasper will in eight months be gazing on the sumptuous interior of a hotel which develops the word only have been found in the imagination of some visionary who, has he varied his vision, would probably have been arrested as too dangerous to be at large.

To Edmontonians the Chateau Macdonald is but a type and a promise of good things to come.

Grain Men Organize at Moose Jaw.

Moose Jaw, Nov. 1.—The question of securing suitable offices will be among the first to engage the attention of the directors of the newly organized Moose Jaw Grain Exchange. In view of the demand government's anticipated early completion of the interior storage elevators no time will be lost in perfecting the details of the enterprise. That the time will be lost for the organization of an exchange in Moose Jaw is quite generally conceded. It is believed that the city's peculiar advantages with reference to the American market, together with the probable effect of the new tariff law and new freight rates upon the export situation, it is believed that the establishment of the new exchange will mean the opening in Moose Jaw of many branch offices of outside grain exporters.

Foresighted School Board.

Swift Current, Sask., Nov. 1.—According to estimates outlined by members of the local school board, Swift Current is likely to require in the next six years at least three high schools of eight rooms each. The new Central school, now in course of construction, will contain 1200 pupils and also room for domestic science and manual training, together with an assembly hall. The Central school and the Elmhurst school are to be completed in 1914, while at least one more eight-room building will be added to the list in 1915. The problem of school accommodation is becoming a serious one throughout this section of the west, but the local school board is facing the situation with vigor and foresight.

ONE OF THE 1913 BUILDINGS—THE CIVIC BLOCK.

Public Employment Offers in Theory and in Practice

Contributed by the Edmonton Welfare Association.

At the Canadian Conference of Charities and Corrections held at Winnipeg recently, Mr. W. M. Leleson, P.H.D., state superintendent of Wisconsin's employment offices, read a most important paper on the subject of public employment offices. It was all to good that it is difficult to give an adequate summary of its contents which are too numerous to detail. It seems wise to use Dr. Leleson's own words as far as possible.

The demand for employment offices of some kind arises from the state of flux which must always be the normal condition of the labor market. For people, he says, multiply the amount of work in every industrial community that consists of short jobs. In Wisconsin fully one-fourth of the total demand for labor returned at the employment office is for work lasting less than a month. The New York figures, stated at the entrance of the industrial world to point the way to children to point the way to children, that one out of every two wage earners work irregularly, and have to seek employment at least once, probably many times, during the year. The same commission selected from the statements of 747 employers that 60 per cent. could always get all the help they needed, and practically all of them hired their forces from people who made personal application at their plants. Two hundred advertised in newspapers and hired from among those who made personal application.

"The reason most employers can get all the help they need at their gates is because there are thousands of such men and women going from door to door and household responding to each cue given in the newspapers. Think of the waste of time and energy and the discouragement in going from door to door to ask if any help is needed." And yet we are told that there is no permanent surplus of labor in excess of the demand. There is no evidence at all to show a surplus of labor over the maximum demand for labor of all employers. It is entirely a problem of misadjustment. There are of three causes: (1) In respect of place; wage earners may be scarce in one place and over-supplied in another; (2) as between industries; some are over-crowded while others are under-supplied; (3) in respect of time; wages usually show an excess of supply, and some years show a scarcity while others show an excess.

The entire burden of this misadjustment is borne by the wage earner. It is he who suffers from the loss of time and energy, and moreover, the failure to get a job quickly makes him willing to take work at any price, and tends to keep wages down.

These evils are the price we pay for lack of organization in the buying and selling of labor. An organized market for labor is needed for the same reason that other markets are organized, to eliminate waste and facilitate exchange, to bring the supply and demand quickly together. Public employment offices scientifically managed may be able to reduce these evils, to bring them under control, to make them where they can be entirely abolished, they can give the facts which will lead to the device means of relieving their effects and compensating those who must bear the burden. With an adequate system of statistics and reports from each public office there is no reason why the conditions and the nature of our labor markets can not be as reliably reported on the market pages of our newspapers as are the quotations of the stock market, wheat and produce exchange, etc. This would far toward eliminating misadjustment in regard to place. It is the same sort of information that the government authorities have been unable to furnish to the consumer, geographer,

Means Expansion of Grazing Industry.

Marblehead, Alta., Nov. 1.—Taking advantage of the new tariff law, under which Canadian cattle are now admitted free of duty into the United States, Mammie Brown, the well-known stockman of the Marblehead district, have been shipping cattle in carload lots to the Chicago market. The ranchers state that, in their opinion the removal of tariff barriers will be of decided benefit to the grazing industry of Western Canada. Trains are loaded right at the reserve, and it takes the ranchers three or four days to round up a bunch for the average-size shipment.

Southern Alberta as Investment Field.

Cardston, Alta., Nov. 1.—The state recently given out by the Secretary Woodbridge of the United Farmers of Alberta, to the effect that Alberta's 1913 crop would be fully as large as that of last year and of much superior quality, is confirmed by reports from the province. In addition, the stimulus felt in local business circles as a result of the crop movement, the extensive investments of the Marmon family in this vicinity will mean many thousands of dollars of new capital being put in by the Marmon family for Cardston development projects. The new department store erected here by the Marmon family has cost the expenditure of $100,000 up to the present time; while the new temple, planned on a scale second only to the cathedral at Salt Lake City, will involve an outlay of at least $250,000 more within the coming year.

Fulltest Application of Labor Force.

and in placing the burden of unemployment on industry where it belongs. Discussing Mr. Heller's plan that entering business men should organize the labor market on a large scale, he mentions that a basic condition of success is that they must be impartial between employers and workers in their struggles over conditions of employment. That wage earners will not go in great numbers to agencies maintained by employers because of its possible use for blacklisting, breaking on the other hand agencies maintained by trade unions fall because employers will not patronize them except where the trade is completely organized as it gives the unions too powerful a weapon in the struggle for control. This work to be successful really needs to be a monopoly because it requires a centralized organization which will gather all the demand and be in touch with the entire available supply. Dr. Leleson does not attempt to hide or even minimize the fact that hitherto free employment offices have not been as successful as they should be. That while in theory they were designed to furnish clearing houses for labor to bring the job and the man together with the least delay and to eliminate the private labor broker, whose activity as a middleman is so often accompanied by fraud, representation and extortion. In practice they have not even maintained an effective competition against the private labor broker.

Prolonged Building Season Promised.

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—Inquiries from here will be called for within the next few days, it is understood, for the construction of the first mill of the new plant of the Grand Forks Canning Co., Limited. A two-story structure and one of the most modern in the province is contemplated. Seven lots, south of Main street and close to the railroads, have practically been decided upon as the site of the proposed plant. Among other new buildings to be completed in Grand Forks during the present season are the warehouse of McNeil & Hemmick, the $25,000 garage of the Grand Forks Garage company, and a large number of new dwelling houses already booked for occupancy as soon as finished.

Fruit Industry Rests on Solid Basis.

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—Inquiries from Australia and New Zealand for British Columbia apples have exceeded all past records this year, and as a result shipments to these colonies will increase into the high figures. The fruit inspection system of British Columbia has now been thoroughly reorganized, and instead of one inspector for the entire province, deputy inspectors are stationed at all leading shipping points, in some instances the local customs officers having undertaken to act as inspectors.

Brandon Gas For Power Purposes.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 1.—Gas for power purposes is to be supplied at about 40 cents per thousand will soon be a reality in Brandon, according to C. D. Casson, of the Babcock Test Co., whose $28 acre of coal had near completion is now held under option by the city as a view to municipal operation. The cost to the city, should this plan be put through, will be something like $45,000.

The Methods that have been followed.

in Wisconsin so successfully cannot be chief in this article but may be taken up in connection with the conditions of our own employment problems at another time.

Example of the larger German cities.

people in charge of them who understand the business and know its principles and technique and who will work with vigor and energy to make their offices successful.

The idea of charity in connection with public employment offices must be entirely eliminated.

The entire purpose of the public employment office is to be a public utility and not a charity. An employment office does not give work to anyone. It merely tells people where the work is. It is information, not jobs, that employment offices distribute. The public employment office is to be a public utility and not a charity. The worker is informed as to the location and condition of demand. It is his business to find the work. It depends upon the widest possible distribution of reliable information of this kind that the state is justified in providing the service free. It is as much a public utility as the post office.

In dealing with the question of private employment offices Dr. Leleson stated that although there are almost 1000 such offices in New York City, 86 per cent of the employees never use them.

The multiplication of agencies merely makes more places in which to look for work. Agencies in competition will not exchange lists, and an applicant for work may register at one while another has the job which fits him. The most important functions of employment offices, viz., to reduce unnecessary idleness, and to deal with the problem of unemployment will never be undertaken by private labor agencies because there is no incentive for them to do so. It involves expense for each there is no return except to the state as a whole in securing the

When the money on the street took a hit that when this year is over there could have been erected in this city building things whose value will exceed $10,000,000, his first comment would all this money be lost? What's all this money? I mean, if it had been there, we were to put the question to the gentleman in charge of the building inspectors' department, Mr. Melvor would tell him that as far as his department is concerned, there cannot be said to have been lost a cent of money. "These are the price we pay for the freedom of the press," says the editor of labor. An organized market for labor is needed for the same reason as a market for goods and services to eliminate waste and facilitate exchange and to bring the supply and demand into balance. Real Test of a City's Growth is Character of its Structures.

GLENDORA AND GARNEAU LEAD IN FINE RESIDENCES

Total Number of Buildings Erected During the Past Nine Months was 1483.

The time has come when the contractor puts in concrete at his heels which is just another way of saying that it is getting cold and that the busy days of easy building are drawing to an end. At such a time the prudent citizen could do worse than pause for a moment or two and look back over what more than anything else shows him how his city is growing. The building activity of a city like Edmonton is, to say the least, a matter of vital interest to every man and woman that lives in it.

When the man on the street told that when this year is over there will have been erected in this city buildings whose value will exceed $10,000,000, his first comment would most likely be: "Well, what's all this talk about a money stringency?" If he were to put the question to the general head of the building inspectors' department, Mr. Melvor would tell him that as far as his department is concerned there cannot be said to have been really hard times at all. To be sure the total amount of permits issued up to the present time seem at first sight to fall somewhat below the amount for the same period of last year, but that figures at times mislead.

Take for example Mr. Melvor to the Capital, the two species of building which are perhaps the safest guide by which to judge of a city's real prosperity. I mean substantial warehouses and expensive dwellings. Never in the city's history have so many real and substantial warehouses been erected as in the past building year. What's more, the man who would build a dwelling three years ago and ask $5,000.00 for it would have his trouble in finding a purchaser where this year we have never issued anything like so many permits for dwelling houses whose cost is around $15,000.00. Men don't erect buildings of that nature if there is not money either on hand or in sight.

A walk through the well defined business district of the city will simply bear out Mr. Melvor's words. On Fourth St. there is the handsome five-story structure erected by Kelly & Russell; another of six stories on Eighth St., that of Nicholas & Bain. At the corner of Seventh and Peace Ave. Tees & Puro have a six-story warehouse as modern as it is substantial. These buildings are all of a strictly modern warehouse type and the materials used in the construction are of best stone, cement and brick.

As to the sections of the city most affected in the building activities of the last year, Glendora and Garneau lead in the high class and expensive type of dwelling, and yet at the opposite extremity of the city in the district in and around Norwood it can be shown by figures in the inspector's office that two permits were taken out in that part of the city to one in any other section. Norwood and Parkdale are the sections par excellence, in which the owner lives on his property. As a source of revenue to the city it leads all other residential sections and the number of permits issued to Norwood amounted to double the number issued to any other part.

And yet in spite of the optimism prevailing in civic block the fact remains that many a handsome or imposing edifice conceived in hope last year, never saw the light of day especially in the case of apartment houses. Figures are fallacious estimates at times but they must be faced. For the first three quarters of last year, from January to October inclusive, the amount of money paid in buildings was the sum of $12,189,402.00. For the same period of the present year the amount was $8,868,100.00, a decrease of almost four millions. What seems almost incredible in the face of the never ceasing demand for houses, and the soaring cry of the rent payer is the fact that the buildings which the last mentioned sum covers, 1,328 were dwelling houses, and by the end of the year this is a safe prognostication that the year 1912 will witness the erecting of 2009 dwellings—and yet rents are higher to-day in Edmonton than in the city of New York. For other words the building capacities of Edmonton are far from adequate to the demands made upon it by the ever increasing influx of newcomers intent on making this city their home.

For the first nine months of the present year the building activity among the various kinds of building was as follows:—Dwellings, 137; churches, 3; hotels, 2; factories, 32; stores and offices, 101; warehouses, 147. The last figure is food for thought. What about Edmonton made good? The question may disturb the fearful and the timid but a heart to heart talk with Publicity Commissioner Hall has a wonderfully cheering effect. He will assure you that the inquiries increase every day and that in the most cases it was only the unreasonable nature of the concessions asked for that has stopped the city from receiving into its spacious bosom several manufacturing concerns making staple lines of goods. You will also be assured that time and the unquestionable attraction which Edmonton has for the manufacturer will soon be having their effect.

To build is one thing; to build well is more important. At least that is the unalienable conviction of the man whom the city of Edmonton has commissioned to see that those who build build properly.

Mr. Hall is the watch dog past whom all these with plans of a questionable appearance must slip if they would raise their faulty structure to the fair domain of Edmonton. His bane alone is a house in which the heating system is a menace to the tenant and an alibi house.

"The city, declares Mr. Hall, spends $12,000 for inspectors in the hope of preventing fires and $150,000 in putting them out. Just take a look at some of the hotels for instance. If a glass full of beer is sold after ten o'clock the proprietor is heavily fined. On the other hand, if he leads a guest to a room that is a veritable death-trap, he to one thing is thought of it. That is the saddest economy in the world. It is a veritable death-trap, and the city is in loss of property through fire?"

"Our people are prone to fret about taxation. They rebel when the price of commodities is a trifle above and insist upon punitive legislation. They think they submit to a tax that is heavier than any of them, the greatest single tax that Canada pays and that does not help defray any government or municipal expense but is a tremendous drain that goes on entirely in smoke and drags, that could by ordinary precaution, that does not cost anything but the exercise of common sense, be cut down 50 per cent.

The one great tribute of course to the coming size and importance of the future Edmonton is the Chateau MacDonald. It must not be forgotten that the two millions which it represents are not included in this year's estimate of the amount of permits issued and yet it is the most important of public employment. It was all so congratulated last year on the opening of the year 1912. It has given employment to more men than would ordinarily be used on the largest buildings in the city. It will be opened on Dominion day of next year and when finished be the best word in hotel construction. According to the architects, as much expense, care and taste will be devoted to this hotel as to any hotel in the great capitals of the world. Edmonton, which ten years ago congratulated itself on the opening of the Alberta on paper will in eight months be eating on the sumptuous dinner of a hotel which a decade ago would only have been found in the imagination of some visionary who has since been proved to be a dreamer. It has been asserted no two dangers to be at large.

So Edmonton, the Chateau MacDonald is but a type and a property of good things to come.

Grain Men Organize at Moose Jaw.

Moose Jaw, Nov. 1.—The question of securing suitable offices will be among the first to engage the attention of the directors of the newly organized Moose Jaw Grain Exchange. In view of the dominion government's anticipated early completion of the later storage elevators no time will be lost in perfecting the details of the new enterprise. That the time was ripe for the organization of an exchange in Moose Jaw is quite generally conceded. In view of the city's peculiar advantages with reference to the American markets, together with the probable effect of the new tariff law and new freight rates upon the export situation. It is believed that the establishment of the new exchange will mean the opening in Moose Jaw of many branches of outside grain operations.

Forethought School Board.

Swift Current, Sask., Nov. 1.—According to estimates outlined by members of the local school board, Swift Current is likely to require in the next six years no less than eight schools of eight rooms each. The new Central school, not in course of construction, will contain 12 class rooms and also room for domestic science and manual training, together with an assembly room. The Central school and the new school are to be completed in 1914, while at least one more eight-room building will be added to the list in 1915. The problem of school accommodation is becoming a serious one throughout this section of the west, but the local school board is facing the situation with vigor and foresight.

Public Employment Offers in Theory and in Practice

Contributed by the Edmonton Welfare Association.

At the Canadian Conference of Charities and Corrections held at Winnipeg recently, Mr. W. M. Leiserson, Ph.D., state superintendent of Wisconsin's employment offices, read a most important paper on the subject of public employment. It was an address so good that it is difficult to give an adequate summary of its contents within the limits of an article. It is so good that it is well worth the trouble of a man to read it. It is a paper which should be read by every man who is interested in the problem of public employment.

The demand for employment offices is a demand which is not only a demand for the unemployed, but a demand for the employed. It is a demand for the unemployed, for the unemployed are the ones who are in need of work. It is a demand for the employed, for the employed are the ones who are in need of a place to work.

Other Municipalities

Means Expansion of Grazing Industry.

Macleod, Alta., Nov. 1.—Taking advantage of the new tariff law, under which Canadian cattle are now admitted free of duty into the United States, Mammel Bros., the well-known stockmen of the Macleod district, have been shipping cattle in carload lots to the Chicago market. The ranchers state that, in their opinion the removal of the tariff barriers will be of decided benefit to the grazing industry of Western Canada. Trains are loaded right at the reserve, and it takes the ranchers three or four days to round up a bunch for the average-size shipment.

Southern Alberta as Investment Field

Cardston, Alta., Nov. 1.—The statement recently given out by Secretary Woodbridge, of the United Farmers of Alberta, to the effect that Alberta's 1912 crop would be fully as large as that of last year and of much superior quality, is confirmed by reports of harvest from all parts of the province. In addition to the stimulus felt in local business circles as a result of the crop movement, the extensive investment of the Morrissey family in the vicinity will mean many thousands of dollars of new capital for occupation as soon as the season for Cardston development projects.

Prolonged Building Season Promised.

Fort St. John, Nov. 1.—Builders will be called for within the next few days, it is understood, for the new plant of the Grand Forks Canning Co., Limited. A two-story structure, the $25,000 garage of the Grand Forks Canning company, and a large number of new dwelling houses already booked for occupancy as soon as the season for Cardston development projects.

Fruit Industry Rests on Solid Basis.

Edmonton, B.C., Nov. 1.—Inquiries from Australia and New Zealand for British Columbia apples have exceeded all past records this year, and as a result shipments to these colonies will aggregate into the high figures. The fruit inspection system of British Columbia has now been thoroughly reorganized, and instead of one inspector for the entire province, deputy inspectors are stationed at all leading shipping points, in some instances the local customs officers having undertaken to act as inspectors.

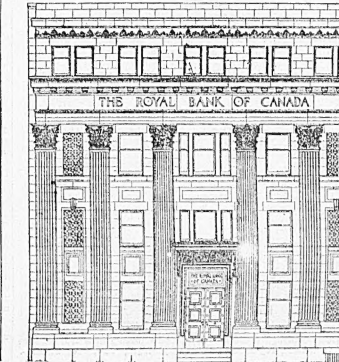

The active interest that the provincial government is taking in the fruit growing industry is also indicated by the appointment recently of a commission to visit California and other fruit growing States with the purpose of studying marketing methods and the utilization of horticultural by-products in those districts. Incidentally, it is expected that important information will be gathered regarding the citrus fruit industry. The present season has brought substantial prosperity to apple growers throughout the province. Five ranches are being planted and cultivated, according to the latest and best approved methods, and farmers who give the necessary study and attention to the business are getting results.

Brandon Gas For Power Purposes.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 1.—Gas for power purposes and to be supplied at about 10 cents per thousand will soon be a reality in Brandon, according to C. D. Casson, of the Babcock Test Co., whose 628 acres of coal and near Hereford are now held under option by the city with a view to municipal operation. The cost to the city should this plan be put through, will be something like $45,000.

GIRLS AND GIRLS THEN SOME GIRLS AT THE PANTAGES

Next Week Dance Review
Showing Clever Imperson-ators Will Be There.

Girls, girls and then some girls will be the rule at Pantages theatre. Last week in Bothwell Brown's Dance Review, Mr. Bothwell Brown is recognized as one of the cleverest female impersonators on the stage to-day and he has for some time past been acting to produce and stage acts for the vaudeville world. However, the call was too strong and he returned last week appearing in a dance review which was the feature of the famous Partola festival in Paris. He has surrounded himself with eight of the prettiest girls that could be found in Sunny California, girls with comely figure and exceptional singing voice who can dance with great skill and grace. The act which was produced especially for the grand San Francisco Fete is elegantly contained and the mountings are said to be superb, and in keeping with all of Mr. Brown's productions, one of which will be presented at Pantages here some few weeks ago, "The Report of the Nile."

An offering containing melody and mirth with a cyclonic finish is promised from the Six Musical Spotters, a troupe of colored performers who play practically every instrument that is made. In their repertoire is included nearly all the standard and classical recitals as well as the leading numbers from grand opera while lovers of real symphonic music will enjoy listening to the talented manner in which these true exponents of rag music play.

Al H. Weston and Irene Young have a monodramatic play titled "The Modern Flirtation," which is filled with bright and witty dialogue differing somewhat from the ordinary hackneyed patter and brachings out of their original lines. During the act several of the latest songs and up to the minute dances will be given. Cole Hassel and Davis, a trio of versatile entertainers will doubtless be well received, their act being a most attractive mélange of singing and dancing while the La Belle, a team of comical jugglers will have something a little different from the average juggler turn.

AVIATORS' NARROW ESCAPE.

Vernon, France, Nov. 1.—Victor Stoeffler, the German aviator, and his mechanic, had a narrow escape from death yesterday, when their aircraft crashed and fell into the sea. The engine of the machine broke the force of the fall. The aviators were on their way from Villa Croix to Vervins, France.

VESSEL HAD ROUGH TIME.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Pierce gales and fog were encountered by the American liner Stamper on her voyage from Philadelphia. Her 12-day passage was a very trying one. On Monday the sea carried away several of her lifeboats, and some of the wreckage was thrown clear over the bridge, severely injuring the officers on watch.

CATHOLIC HOSPITAL OPENED.

Saskatoon, Nov. 1.—The new St. Paul's Roman Catholic hospital was opened today, a large number of leading men attending the ceremony.

POLMATTER SISTERS CONCERT ORCHESTRA AT ORPHEUM, JASPER E.

Monday and Tuesday's Bill Next Week
Promises to be the Best Yet.

A real treat is in store for the Orpheum patrons next Monday and Tuesday nights in the famous Polmatter Sisters Concert Orchestra. These five ladies, who have toured all over the Dominion of Canada, and the United States, rank with the best musical organizations of the present day. They are all artists in their line and it would be a hard matter to pick which is the best. The handsome costumes, the high character of the company and the marked spirit of friendliness and interest with which they enter into the effort to please, is greatly appreciated by those who hear them. For pure melody and the faultless rendition of the most difficult selections as well as popular airs, it would be hard for any other musical organization to approach them. The expression they put into their music seems to touch the heart-chord, and their selections are classical enough to suit the most fastidious, yet sufficient popular airs are interspersed to please those who like this class of music. The Orpheum management deserves a crowded house on both nights, as it is no doubt a high priced attraction for the small price of 15 cents. A program of high-class pictures will be put on between the selections by the orchestra.

WINNIPEG WANTS TO VOTE ON SINGLE TAX PROPOSITION

City Council Decides to Ask Legislature for Power to Grant Petition.

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—That the city council is in favor of submitting to the voters of Winnipeg a referendum or plebiscite on the principle of taxation of land values only, and that the city will ask for power to submit such a plebiscite at the next session of the Manitoba legislature, was the assurance given yesterday by Mayor Deacon to a large and representative delegation of citizens headed by members of the land values league.

MONTREAL STRUCK.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—The tone of the market yesterday was again heavy and dull with very little business doing. Iron sold down to 27.34, C.P.R. was 225.14, power 267, and Great 82.4.

THE CALL OF THE NORTH AT THE LYCEUM THEATRE

Another George Broadhurst
Drama to Be Staged at this House Next Week.

Achille Picard, Harry Cornell, Rev. Crane, William E. Dawes, Dr. Cockburn, Walter King, Mrs. Lockhart, Marie Davidson, McDougall, William Yale, Rodman Rand, Richard Manning, Grace Aylesworth, Me-In-Gen, Minor Reed, Julie, Tryna Saindon, McTavish, E. C. Edwards, Galen Albert, Chester Warner, Ned Trent, Edward Hearn.

Another George Broadhurst drama will come to the Lyceum theatre next week, when the management announces "The Call of the North," first presented in New York by Robert Edwards and a select cast. Dramas of the far North (which is getting fairly near Edmonton) have never before been attempted by Broadhurst, but on this occasion he has written a drama of rare appeal, and one which has scored heavily wherever it has appeared because of the fine character drawing presented. The scene is laid about 900 miles north of Edmonton, in the early days when the traders of the uncharted regions of perpetual ice and snow ruled the vast stretches of land with an iron hand. The Long Traverse in those days was the dreary route by which all treasurers travelled to an almost certain death—those trespassers being those traders who so far forgot themselves as to seek game in the regions reigned over by the post traders headed by one Galen Albert, generally known as the Factor.

Into the forbidden territory come Ned Trent, a statesman in the bloom of youth in search of the man who had caused the death of Trent senior, a post trader of earlier days, bent on revenge at any cost. Trent takes great chances, and he captured three different times. The third time he is taken back to the Factor's home, he meets Virginia, the daughter of the Factor. He then discovers that the Factor himself is the man he had been hunting for, but he has been deceived for the girl blinds him to all else, and he forgets the score he went down to settle.

Northern traders who happen to see the play as presented at the Lyceum next week will possibly recognize some of the scenes depicted in "The Call of the North," as the various scenes have been handled with a realistic touch that can scarcely be ignored by audiences.

ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.

The Edmonton Orchestral society will hold their fifty-seventh Sunday evening concert at the Empire theatre next Sunday evening, November 3. Doors open at 8:30. Concert commences at 9 o'clock sharp.

In spite of the many changes this young society has been subject to, they still hold their own. Hereafter, the concerts were held at the Pantages, but, in future, their abode will be the Empire theatre.

It is very encouraging to the organizers of the above society to note that the citizens of Edmonton have realized that they can look to the Edmonton Orchestral society for first-class music and are not wholly dependent on outsiders from various cities to furnish them with these treats.

The audience last Sunday was, indeed, a very appreciative one and the society, together with its associates, are desirous of looking forward to this class of music lovers for further patronage.

The society can boast some very good talent and ambitious, energetic musicians, who have been and are arriving hard to develop first-class culture among the citizens, and they have until recently struggled along with little or no encouragement.

In securing the services of Miss Beattie Public, the Orchestral society, the society have been fortunate, inasmuch as the very mention of this well known soloist is in itself a magnetic attraction.

Nanking, China, is soon to have a university under government control. Forty-eight searchlights will flash at the Panama exhibition.

MARGARET ANGLIN AT THE EMPIRE

Distinguished Canadian Actress Will Appear Next Week in Shakespearean Plays.

Margaret Anglin, the distinguished Canadian actress, who inaugurated her special transatlantic Canadian tour in Vancouver last week, will begin an engagement of three nights and special matinee at the Empire theatre on Thursday in a series of Shakespearean revivals embracing three of the most delightful comedies of the immortal bard. Miss Anglin's repertoire and the order of its presentation will be as follows: Thursday night, "Twelfth Night," Friday night, and Saturday matinee, "As You Like It," and Sunday night, "The Taming of the Shrew."

For each of these plays Miss Anglin has provided an exceptionally large and complete equipment of scenery, properties and stage effects. Miss Anglin has always maintained a very high standard of productions in the plays which she has heretofore presented. She realizes that the discriminating theatregoer appreciates the value of complete and beautiful scenic equipment, as well as all the important adjuncts which combine to create impressive and appropriate stage pictures. All the scenery and costumes of Miss Anglin's productions were designed by Livingston Platt, the well-known artist and decorator. An additional feature of the production is the special musical setting for each play, composed by William Furst, one of the foremost musicians of America.

It is also well that the public should understand the superior calibre and personnel of Miss Anglin's supporting company, which was recruited from the best Shakespearean organizations of England. For months prior to the beginning of rehearsals Miss Anglin was calling England in quest of actors of training and experience in Shakespearean drama, and each and every one of her company were selected and engaged with special reference to their fitness for the characters assigned them in her repertoire. Prominent in Miss Anglin's supporting company are Fuller Mollish, Ian MacLaren, Eric Blind, Ruth Holt-Boucoult, Lillian Truette, Harrison Carter, Sidney Greenstreet, Florence Wolferen, Max Montague, Wallace Widdowson, Max Fisher, E. Y. Bacon, Harry Barfoot and 29 others. The number of the company is fully aware of the superior class of the attraction and the importance of the evening into its affairs, the action being taken because of the excellent manner in which he sang the various roles. Mr. Aldridge has just been engaged for the Orpheum circuit, and will shortly be seen on a tour of the Orpheum circuit.

Horace Goldin, the royal illusionist, with a company of 40, including a royal Bengal tiger, has begun his Orpheum circuit tour. Mr. Goldin is the greatest magician of our time, if not of all times. Mr. Goldin, in appreciation of his work, has been decorated by many foreign grand heads, Paul Conches, the military Hercules, formerly a physical instructor in the high school, has just returned to German army, has just returned to America, and will immediately take up the Orpheum circuit route which has been laid out for him.

It is Olga Netherland's intention to obtain for herself a vaudeville reputation to be as important as that used on her last tour in the legitimate. To this end Miss Netherland has already produced the third act of Shylock and a one-act play called "The Last Scene of the Play." She now has in preparation another one-act play which is scheduled for early presentation.

The managers are providing a great deal of space to Billy D. Van's band, Von Harbor, N. H., while Mr. Van is out on his tour. Beaumont Stetson and company in his satirical farce "Frogs," he is busily engaged boosting one of the products of the Hampshire communities, which has been seen in his honor.

SALVATION OFFICER ILL.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Commissioner Rees (head of the Salvation Army here) is so ill that recovery is doubtful. Six hundred out-of-town officers arrived yesterday from all parts of Canada to take part in today's big demonstration of welcome to General Booth, who arrived at New York yesterday. On reaching headquarters they learned of the serious turn in the Commissioner's condition and little impromptu prayer meetings were held.

Archibute, the third son of Theodore Roosevelt, came into the world as a freshman. He is a candidate for a place on the 1917 football team.

CHILDREN MAY GO ON THE STAGE AND FEED ELEPHANTS

Peep Into Wonderful Stage-
land for Kids Who Attend
Pantages Saturday.

A peep into wonderful stage-land will be afforded all the children who attend Saturday's matinee at Pantages, when after the performance Powers' elephants will receive on the stage. Every child who wishes, provided that she or he is accompanied by some older person, will be allowed to go up on the stage and feed the elephants. They are quite docile, and no parent need have any fear for the safety of the children while they are there. Mrs. Powers and her daughter who trained and handles the tiny fellow "Baby Mine" will be in charge of the reception, and the youngsters will be looked after with the greatest of care.

It is not even that a chance is offered to children to see these big animals at close range, and the opportunity will be given to the youngsters to be taught to "salam" or say "please" by lifting their trunk high in the air and quaking their huge mouths, allowing peanuts and candy to be thrown in.

The baby has, however, a new method of showing his appreciation as he stands on his head when pleased.

ORPHEUM ORTHOGRAPHS

Lai Mon Kim, the noted Chinese actor, is about to begin a tour of the Orpheum circuit. Kim is a graduate of the university of Washington, and was the principal of the Orpheum club, where his splendid voice attracted so much attention that it was a comparatively short time before he was besieged with theatrical offers.

Since the artist entertainer Bert Grey began his Orpheum circuit tour, he has been a constant contributor to the daily papers. In each city he visits he has certain subjects which are being awarded prominence by the newspapers.

During the recent coast tour of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera company, Arthur Aldridge, the company's principal tenor, sprang into the limelight because of the excellent manner in which he sang the various roles. Mr. Aldridge has just been engaged for the Orpheum circuit, and will shortly be seen on a tour of the Orpheum circuit.

Horace Goldin, the royal illusionist, with a company of 40, including a royal Bengal tiger, has begun his Orpheum circuit tour. Mr. Goldin is the greatest magician of our time, if not of all times. ### SUNDAY CONCERTS TO BE CONTINUED AT EMPIRE THEATRE

The Edmonton Orchestral society will continue to be held at the Empire theatre throughout the winter months. Under this able conductorship of Mr. Weaver-Winston, this band of some 18 to 20 musicians have delighted large audiences in the past, and the announcement that they will be continued will be hailed with delight by the music loving public of Edmonton.

CHRISTMAS IN THE OLD COUNTRY

The Canadian Northern Railway is providing in a very satisfactory manner for the Trans-Atlantic passenger traffic to the old country and the Continent this Christmas. Their announcements show that two special trains will run from Edmonton on November 18 and 27—the first to Montreal via Duluth, North Western line, Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway, to catch the large fleet of vessels including the Royal George, sailing from that port on November 15. The second special will run through to Halifax to connect with the Royal Edward and other steamers on December 2 and 4.

Through tourist cars will be operated from Edmonton, Prince Albert, Saskatoon and intermediate points to join these specials at Winnipeg, so that from points far west, intending passengers will get a through run to the coast without change.

Full information regarding these special trains and the Christmas excursion fares, which are exceedingly low, will be cheerfully furnished by any Canadian Northern agent on application.

BURDELLA PATTERSON.

Columbia University, New York, has just received a donation of $200,000 from Mrs. W. H. Cutting as a memorial to her deceased husband.

When a young woman extremely handsome and extremely well-gowned, can add to her attractiveness by singing delightfully the public is wont to look upon her as an unquestioned success. Therefore, Miss Edna Munsey, a young soprano new to vaudeville, makes her local debut with all the odds in her favor.

And then there is Burdella Patterson, the dainty little blonde, who appeared in the west last season as "Fleur-de-lis" in "Visions D'Art." This time she comes in a new posing act, which she captions "Beaux Arts." She was for some time a professional model, and has ample opportunity to study what is best in the world's art classics, and to know which of the masterpieces lend themselves to stage reproduction. Her work is extremely finished and she is truly a model of grace.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CASE OF C.P.R. vs. KERR

Man Secured $5,000 Damages for Injuries and the Company Appeals.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—In the supreme court yesterday the arguments were concluded in the case of the C. P. R. vs. Kerr, and judgment was reserved. The next appeal heard was in the case of Powell River Paper Co. vs. Hatch.

The appellants were erecting some very high factory buildings at Powell River, B.C., and the respondent was a carpenter foreman in their employ. At the top of the scaffold was a projection called a catwalk, which was used for hoisting lumber. The respondent succeeded himself through the scaffolding and stepped upon one of the platforms, which immediately fell to the ground, causing the fall of the extra weight, and he was seriously injured.

In an action for damages at common law following the accident he secured a verdict for $5,000, upon which the trial judge entered judgment and refused a non-suit by the judgment appealed from. This decision was affirmed on divided opinion by the court of appeals for British Columbia. On the present appeal it is contended that there was no evidence of negligence by the appellants, that the injury complained of was caused by the acts of persons in common employ with respondent, and that he was guilty of contributory negligence. W. Nesbitt, K.C., for appellants, and Lauder, K.C., and R. M. MacDonald for respondent.

CONSULS ARE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE ENTIRE EMPIRE

British Official Emphasizes This Fact and Encourages Correspondence on Trade

New York, Oct. 31.—John Joyce Broderick, vice-consul general of Great Britain in New York, here has completed his arrangements for a tour of Canada before he leaves to take up his new duties as British Consul at Amsterdam, to which he has been promoted. Courtesy Walter Bennett, the consul-general in this city is expected to reach New York from England on Wednesday next and on November 6 Mr. Broderick will leave for Hamilton, Ont., where he will address the Canadian club.

He will address the various Canadian clubs in eastern Canada and several of the Women's Canadian clubs on the subject of the functions of British consuls as applied to Canada.

Mr. Broderick was during his stay in New York has proved himself especially sympathetic to the Canadian residents of the great American metropolis, wishing to impress on Canadians the fact that they are entitled to all the services and privileges of the British consulates abroad, the object is to encourage correspondence on matters relating to trade and the various relations of a consulate to the country. He wishes to emphasize the fact that British consuls are established for the benefit not only of the people of British Isles but for all the states comprised in the empire.

He will sail from New York in the early days of December to take up his new duties.

WANT SUNDAY CARS

London, Ont., Nov. 1.—The population of the city is now 55,929 according to the figures prepared by Assessment Commissioner Grant, and these statistics will be forwarded to the Dominion and Governor-in-Council with a request that the election be allowed to stand on Sunday cars in January. The figures last year were 52,375. The total assessment of the city is now $22,960,216, as compared with $21,624,982 last year.

The cattle raising industry throughout the land is anxious to face the facts in the Japanese government and will probably be greatly extended.

Is it worth while for a city to face the facts? Newburgh has answered the question affirmatively. Many other cities are following suit. In every city, as in Newburgh, there are those who fear the facts, and prefer tranquility to progress. But in every city a larger group is asking that facts regarding community life be accurately gathered, intelligently interpreted, and that a comprehensive and unified program for civic progress be formulated. It is encouraging to note that in this latter group are to be found men and women of large means and abilities—successful manufacturers, merchants, labor leaders, professional men, and prominent church and social workers.

DRAMATIC AND SONG REPERTORY
The musical given by Mrs. Edith Rose Burns and Miss Lella Colford, Fremont in the Separate School Hall last Wednesday evening was attended by a large and fashionable audience. It was without doubt one of the most interesting and artistic events ever given here. Both artists were apparently in splendid form and with their handsome gowns presented a striking picture against the dark, dark curtains of the hall. The program was from the truly classical to the modern, each done in a excellent manner, showed great versatility.

In the scenes from Martha, Mrs. Burns displayed unusual dramatic power in portraying the great contrast of these scenes. The songs, which were from Art. 1, Scene 1, Merchant of Venice, from Art. IV, Scene 1, Home and Juliet, from Art. I, Scene 1, His Mother's Servant from the Home of the Brins was a beautiful and touching piece of music. In the scene My Mother's Servant, Mrs. Burns was especially natural and appealing.

Miss Lella Colford, Fremont, in recital program last season, and the hearts of the audience, and her work last Wednesday was again delightfully satisfying. "A World" and "Bird of Blue" were very dainty numbers. The group from "Fidèle" was charming, "Resignation" being a veritable gem. "Stars of the Desert" given with dramatic effect. The song, "We are most effective. The operatic number, "All at Sea," "I've Done," from "Herz and Soul" was a splendid medium for the artist's marked dramatic ability and voice of unusual range. It is a great song and Miss Fleming displayed a beautiful voice with power and control. As a production the finished manner in which it was given elicited well deserved applause. The Scotch songs were particularly well enjoyed. "Walt a Hundred Pipers" making a pleasant finish to a most enjoyable evening.

Major Watts deserves much praise for the capable manner in which he accompanied the various numbers.

Both artists were congenial to acknowledge repeated cheers and received handsome bouquets from their enthusiastic friends.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF ST. GEORGE.
Members of Edinburgh lodge were very cordially welcomed by the postmaster of the city and gentlemen at the popular of the city. The city of St. George was given by Mr. J. W. The associated charities and Dr. Vanman have taken up the establishment of a milk station. Leaders in the ministerial association have shown interest in securing for the city a paid probation officer. Clearly, a social survey, if it does not itself make changes in a city's life, is a stimulus to progressive civic endeavor.

During this survey, the two city duties each published a cartoon. One represented Father Newburgh watching the departure of the surveyor.

Newburgh Surveyed

The Significance of a Small City's Taking Its Own Social Inventory.

(By Shelby M. Harrison)
Director Department of Surveys and Exhibits, Russell Sage Foundation, (Exclusive service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Newburgh has been taking its own social measurements. The survey of the city, just completed, was initiated by Newburgh citizens, financed largely through local contributions, had broad local backing—and some local opposition.

The undertaking was constructive in character and covered such subjects as the following: Public schools, public health, housing, public library, fire and municipal administration. The surveyors found much to commend in the city. The credits were summed up as follows: An unusually attractive site, few tenements, a clean jail and lock-up and the beginning of a probation system, much provision for charitable assistance, diversified industries, good, natural and generally wholesome commercial amusements, a splendid new Y.M.C.A., one unusually fine school building and a city stirred with new civic enthusiasm.

Needless to say the surveyors also pointed out opportunities for improvement. The city needs more systematic methods: Reorganization of financial matters, a housing code, better firemen and "better organized health work, more emphasis upon reform, less upon humiliation of prisoners, the employment of a paid probation officer, more investigation and further co-operation in charity work with emphasis upon prevention of dependency and family rehabilitation rather than upon the giving of money, permanent public playgrounds and recreational use of school buildings, better enforcement of child labor laws and a better understanding of the wage problem, better physical conditions in older school buildings, better provision for securing teaching efficiency, provision for abnormal children and more attention to physical training.

Some opposition came, strange to say, from the board of education. They decided at first to go ahead with their school report with the surveyors, and it appears to have been through their influence that exhibits of the survey findings placed in department store windows were removed earlier than planned. However, this only whetted public curiosity and the mass meeting held to hear the surveyor's report was very well attended.

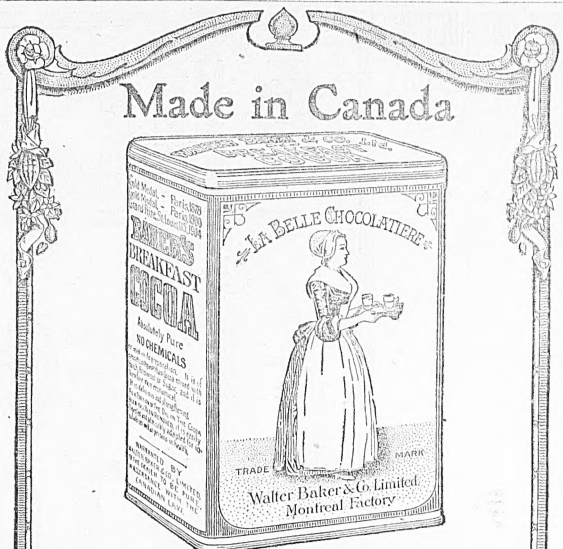

The survey of Newburgh has accomplished two definite things. It has given the citizens a more intelligent public opinion and the mass meeting held to hear the surveyor's report was very well attended. The survey of Newburgh has accomplished two definite things. It has given the citizens a more intelligent public opinion and the mass meeting held to hear the surveyor's report was very well attended.

The surveyors did not themselves make changes, they only showed need and pointed out means for meeting them. The power to make changes lies with local citizens and it is follow-up work that makes a survey effective. Newburgh is responding well in this direction. Individuals and organizations are taking up different survey suggestions as their tasks. Mayor Corwin and the water board have made improvement of the water supply their duty.

No survey finding aroused more opposition than that which showed Newburgh's typhoid death rate to be more than twice that of the whole state, and which suggested the water supply as the cause. It revealed the fire of Mayor John H. Corwin, who had not been unfavorable to the survey, and he set out to defend the city with water. With Dr. T. G. Vanman, health officer, he inspected the waterworks. He came back with that need for improvement in the water supply, and through his initiative, extensive plans have been put on foot which, if carried to fruition, will guarantee Newburgh an uncontaminated water supply, will save lives, will protect the city from public criticism in the future.

The associated charities and Dr. Vanman have taken up the establishment of a milk station. Leaders in the ministerial association have shown interest in securing for the city a paid probation officer. Clearly, a social survey, if it does not itself make changes in a city's life, is a stimulus to progressive civic endeavor.

IMPORTANT AUCTION SALE OF TOWN LOTS

Fort Fraser Townsite to Be Offered at Auction in the Near Future.

One of the most important announcements yet made in Western Canada regarding any of its principal trade centres is the announcement of Mr. J. J. Miller, official auctioneer of both government and private companies, regarding the sale of Fort Fraser lots to be held during the coming month. Mr. Miller has been instructed by the principal owners of the new town on the Grand Trunk, in the interior of British Columbia, to sell by public auction all of the unsold town property, including business locations, manufacturing sites and residence property of Fort Fraser, B. C. The primary reason for this sale, so it has been determined at one of the local offices, is to give the public in general an equal chance to secure some of the choice locations at a figure which is found to make money for the buyers, to secure funds to develop the town and surrounding territory and the further development of improvements which have already been started. The owners of Fort Fraser, while owning practically all of the territory within a radius of twenty miles, have contacted themselves by subdividing a very small portion, thus concentrating the business interests and causing values in this favored spot to have a real and intrinsic value, which has, and will increase rapidly. The funds received from this sale will be largely used for the further development of Fort Fraser and its immediate vicinity, in the original townsite of Fort Fraser. The owners of the Port Fraser townsite having such large interests in the district are compelled to secure additional funds in order to develop the many interests and to improve and enhance the value of all the property of the district generally. So much improvement has been going on and so much demand has been made upon the large interests, that securing sufficient funds, by allowing the public in general to secure an investment after all the business has been eliminated and where success has already been attained.

This is not a sale in which the owners are seeking to avoid any responsibility, but on the other hand it is a sale in which the owners are seeking to carry out one of the most elegant schemes of modern development ever attempted in British Columbia or the entire West. Already more than $500,000 has been invested by the principal land owners of the Port Fraser district in laying the foundation for a modern trade centre and controlling the immense areas of fine agricultural lands that are found radiating from this point. One hundred dollars invested there now will be worth thousands in the very near future and for some time, such an investment has been made since the early development of the other large trade centres of Canada will be made as a consequence of this sale.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY HAS BEEN DISTRIBUTED

Handsome Publication Issued
From a Fine Up-to-Date
Publishing House.

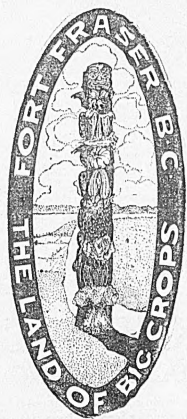

The new telephone directory, the publication of which was announced a few days ago in the Capital, has now been placed in the hands of subscribers and is a very handsome publication. This new book contains the name of every subscriber up to the date of going to press and will prove a very great convenience to everyone having occasion to use it. The print is clean and very clear and reflects the very highest degree of credit upon the Esdale Press, in whose establishment the printing and binding was done. The Esdale Press is an enterprise of which any city might well feel proud. Located in an imposing building recently erected for its purpose on the corner of Hill street and Kingston avenue, it stands out prominently among the business houses in that section of the city and, constructed as it is of pressed brick, the building really attracts the attention of the passer-by. Inside the building is a plant that for completeness and volume of plant equals that of any other to be found within the confines of the city of Edmonton. Monotypes and linotypes of the very latest construction meet the eye in formidable array and type cases with their construction make an admirable quantity of type to meet the demand that might be created by any contract that may be entrusted to the firm are also an interesting sight to the visitor and their working force one of the most interesting sights one could well imagine.

The composing room, spacious and well lighted, is a department that, to one versed in the intricacies of the printing business, is as complete as it might well be, being furnished with every device and with the very latest and most desirable pieces of type. Employees are thus placed in a position to do work that is in keeping with the up-to-date requirements of the business man.

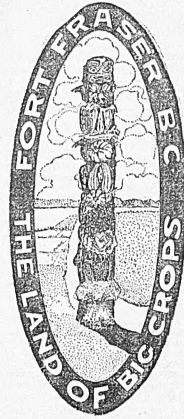

The pressroom is another indication of the expansion of the commerce of the city, being supplied with more

Unlike the average townsite owners, the FORT FRASER syndicate and other large interests have been pouring money into Fort Fraser.

In fact they have, during the past two years, spent many times the original cost of the townsite in improvements—laying out the town, clearing the land, the making of streets, grading, railway station and yards now under construction, in building for government headquarters and other requisites so necessary in the making of a big new city—thus showing their absolute faith in its future, and their determination TO MAKE FORT FRASER BRITISH COLUMBIA'S GREATEST INTERIOR CITY.

A COMPREHENSIVE EXHIBIT.

The Grand Trunk Pacific will participate this year in the United States Land Show to be held in the Coliseum, Chicago, from November 29 to December 3. For this purpose the company have secured a large space, covering an area of 1,000 square feet, in which they will install a comprehensive exhibit of the natural resources of the three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as the feature of the latter being mineral products and fruit from the territory adjacent to the railway shipping the Shewan River, and the exhibits depicting the development of the agriculture lands in Central British Columbia, in which are situated the Nechaco and Buttley Valleys. The entire exhibit will be embellished with handsome photographs made from direct negatives taken this year by the official photographers of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who covered the route from Winnipeg, Man., to Prince Rupert, B.C., through the Canadian Rockies via the Yellowhead Pass, down the Fraser River to Prince George, B.C., through the plateau and valley lands of Central British Columbia, and down the Skeena to the Pacific. Thousands of interested people will view this splendid collection, and Canada will receive valuable advertising as a result.

They will be transmitted over the telegraph wires from the dispatcher and written on the copies handed to the conductors and engineers of trains along with the rest of train orders, of which these important words are to form an integral part. It was not considered sufficient to have these printed on train order blanks, and the extra cost of telegraphing these two words with every train message is cheerfully undertaken in order that every dispatcher, conductor and engineer will constantly have before him the two words that are meant to form the operating motto of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

The "Safety First" movement is being promoted in another direction, for when next month's pay cheques are sent out by the G.T.P., every one will have attached to it a little slip printed in red, as follows:—

"The 'Safety First' movement being put into effect on this system means greater safety for all."

"Put yourself on the subject and become a 'safety first' man. You will not be censured for taking the safe course."

D. D. D. In Hospitals, Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering the fearful itch, the raw, scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?

That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.

The supervising nurse of one of our prominent charitable institutions (name of which is withheld) writes regarding a patient: "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become distorted. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and lips have assumed their natural expression."

How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment are being treated with this same soothing healing fluid?

D.D.D. Prescription—for 15 years the standard skin remedy

RIVER HEIGHTS ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Mr. Williams' hardware store, River Heights, to form a river heights association. Mr. H. H. Stoddard was elected chairman and Mr. Gray secretary. It was decided to call a general meeting to be held on November 3 in the high school, when several important questions will be brought forward.

There had been seven physicians to each 15,000 of population.

DISARMAMENT OF STRIKERS IS NOW PROGRESSING FAST

Conditions at Coal Mines Unusually Quiet Now; Signs of Further Disorder.

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 1.—Adjutant General Chase, after a conference with several army officers, decided to order the Ludlow strikers' colony, where more than 1,000 armed men have been living since the strike was called, and proceed with their disarmament. Conferences continued during the day, looking toward the formulation of plans by which the troops could enter Ludlow without precipitating a battle with the strikers, a feat which the adjutant-general said would be the most difficult problem yet confronted.

Strikers, except at Ludlow, are deserting their arms and ammunition. At Ludlow they have shown no disposition to act in accordance with the orders which are issuing from the militia.

The condition at every coal mine and strikers' colony was unusually quiet, according to reports from the adjutant. No disorders since the reported firing on Aguilar strikers by mine guards yesterday have been reported today. A squad of cavalry was sent from Alamosa yesterday to Aguilar to remain indefinitely.

The militiamen prepared to move towards Ludlow some time today. Those concerned with the conditions at Ludlow expected word of a clash. The strikers swarm the hills for miles around Ludlow.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Wheat bulged yesterday owing to the predictions that winter shipments would be light. There were also unfavorable reports from British sources in regard to the Argentine crop outlook, although reliable dispatches from Buenos Ayres to Chicago firms said the only fear was concerning frost in the near future. Advertisers indicated no hope for supplies for export. Opening prices here were 1-1 and 2-5 to 5-6 higher, with a subsequent additional hardening of values. Despite a vigorous attack by bears, the oat market climbed from the outset. Offerings were promptly taken.

LOST HUNTERS RETURN

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 1.—A hunting party consisting of Gray, Wood, Woodard, Taylor and Macle, six days' overdue, arrived home yesterday at the Port Arthur Hotel. They had been hunting for a couple of headwaters but no serious discomforts were suffered by the hunters though they tired of fresh meat after a week on it exclusively.

WILL GO TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—A. J. Andrews, K.C., counsel for P. L. Taylor in the contest against Mr. Taylor's election to the provincial legislature as representative for Gimli, stated that the recent decision of the higher courts would result in the matter being finally carried to the privy council. The matter was now under consideration and there appeared to be very little doubt that this would be the final step.

STREET CAR FATALITY

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Four persons are reported dead and 15 injured in a wreck at 75th and Halsted streets today when a Winnebago street car struck a street car.

THREE GENERATIONS

Kept healthy by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

Over fifty years ago people began to find out the effectiveness of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills in correcting constipation and toning up the system.

Since then the popularity of this reliable old family medicine has grown steadily, and the increase in sales during the past year was the greatest in the whole half century.

As long as livers get sluggish, bowels constipated or kidneys inactive, just so long will

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure these conditions and banish their distressing effects for those who are wise enough to use them.

Sick headaches, coated tongues, indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia, rheumatism and similar disorders are almost invariably caused by impurities which should be removed from the system by the bowels, the kidneys and the pores of the skin. By toning up these organs so that they can do their work properly, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, cure, or prevent altogether, a large proportion of the common everyday ailments which keep so many people miserable.

DYKES DOWN AT GRAND PRAIRIE

Windsor, N.S., Nov. 1.—The Dykes are down in a large portion of the country between here and Grand Prairie. The extremely high tides have swept away many of the dikes and valuable lands are covered with water and in some places highways are rendered almost impassable. Not since the famous 80-year-old dykes have there been such damage to the country. The tides are still high and further breaks are to be expected.

Controversy in Courts Over Division of Jeffries-Fitz Money

New York, Nov. 1.—Samuel Thall, manager of the San Francisco A.C., which staged the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight July 25, 1902, yesterday gave testimony on the honesty of Joseph Egan, better known as Kid Egan, who as the representative of Jeffries, counted out the latter's share of the receipts after the fight.

Egan is suing Thall's Magazine for statements in an article by Hicks and Barry to the effect that Egan tried to take money that did not belong to him when the money was counted. Jeffries testified recently in behalf of Egan that he never accused the "kid" of trying to hold out any share of the receipts from him, and did not believe he did so.

Thall was called as a witness for the magazine. He said that the club got 30 per cent of the fight receipts, and the winner and loser took 40 and 40 per cent of the other 70 per cent respectively. Thall said he opened the ticket box in a house opposite the arena after the fight. Egan counted Jeffries' share.

"We brought the money to Egan from an inner room on a platter, it being all in gold," said Thall. Fred Heacock, my partner, helped carry it. I stood behind Egan while he counted Jeffries' share. As he counted $500 to $1,000 he would put it in a bag, and all of a sudden he gave a twitch. When he got through counting I said: "You've got too much money there. I made him recount it and it showed that he had $100 to $150 more than his share."

Egan said something about it being a joke and I told him it was no joke, as I thought it was stealing. I told Jeffries and his manager, Delaney, about it.

"Did you say you believed he intended keeping the money?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes," replied Thall, "I did not discover the loss. I would have had to make good to the club."

When asked how he had detected Egan taking too much money Thall said: "He made a quick, uneven movement of his hands when he rustled the money into the bag."
